

Buy Cheap World of Warcraft Gold to Play the Game, Bad or Good?

Recently there are many reports in the market saying playing video games, especially World of Warcraft, has a lot of bad effect to the game players. Some experts claimed that playing world of warcraft can cause the players addicted in the virtual gaming world. And even more, some psychologist reported that those who suffered from dry eyes, headaches, back aches, erratic sleep patterns should stop playing the video games.

These psychologists who provide specific treatment for game addiction believe that gaming addiction is a true and terrible mental disorder. They cited numerous cases to illustrate the gravity of this kind situation. Based on their opinions, more than half of the world of warcraft players are addicted in the game and continued to grow rapidly. They said they were much swamped in the past with people asking for help, especially a lot of people asked them to get help for their teenaged children, boyfriends, spouses and sometimes themselves.

They also said the heavy world of warcraft players always have the similar characteristics, for example, they constantly buy world of warcraft gold to exchange weapons in game and wasted a lot of money they could spend on more value things; they are usually engaged in the game for a long time and should spend the time they wasted in game on reading books and etc. And furthermore, these addicted players feel like they are completely in the game while not simply playing a virtual character. And they criticized these players expected to find a sense of belonging each time they turn on the game.

And yes, all above they mentioned is true for most of game players. But My opinion is, it's not a bad thing to play world of warcraft. It's true the side effects do exists, While at the same time, it brings a lot of pleasure to the game players themselves. You could image how much you can relax yourself in game after one day of hard work. And it is normal for the gamers to buy world of warcraft gold, since they need to get weapons and interact with other game players. Also because most players could find ways to get cheap world of warcraft gold, they enjoyed themselves with the excitement of playing game with a small amount of money. Except the players, these video games bring a lot of economic values, for example, due to the high demand of world of warcraft gold, many companies who are engaged in world of warcraft gold trading come out and grow rapidly; also they helped a lot of people find jobs, for example, many Chinese people could make a living by farming world of warcraft gold for these virtual gold traders.

What the video game players, especially those who play world of warcraft, should keep in mind is to make the right balance between playing games and other daily activities. The role one video game should play is to just to make their life more colorful and enjoyable.
