

The Hoover Self Propelled Carpet Cleaners for Allergy Sufferers

When people have allergies or asthma they have to remove what is bothering their system immediately. Pet dander, dust mites and pollen are a few examples of what the HEPA filtration system in carpet cleaners can remove especially if the carpet cleaners are of high quality. The Hoover Wind Tunnel Ultra is able to keep everything really clean any time of the day or night.

The upright Wind Tunnel has many features and is very easy to operate. It is seen as a larger vacuum that is self-propelled which is a good benefit. With a self-propelled vacuum cleaner all you do is let the vacuum navigate around on the floor and it will pick up all dust and dirt as it moves.

There is an embedded dirt finder built in to the machine so that when it is a heavy traffic area the vacuum cleaner will automatically slow down. The vacuum will also indicate when the carpet is clean which is great for those individuals who like to vacuum quickly.

As with other vacuum cleaners, the Wind Tunnel Ultra has attachments as an added feature. When using any of the attachments you must lock down the handle on the vacuum so that it looks like it is in the upright position. Then the brushes on the dual agitator are run completely off.

The attachment hose that is included is high quality and very flexible, not to mention the fact that it doesn't require that you do anything to connect those hose in order for the vacuum to be used. All you need to do is plug in the vacuum and then just start using it. There are several attachments that you are able to use - they include the two extension wands, upholstery nozzle, crevice tool, dusting brush and a rotating brush.

This self-propelled vacuum cleans carpets and hardwood floors. You will find a switch on the Hoover Wind Tunnel that will stop all of the rotating brushes so that when you clean all the dust and dirt does not swirl around the floor.

The hardwood floor and carpets are cleaned with little effort only because of the power within the Hoover Wind Tunnel vacuum. Whatever needs vacuuming becomes a breeze with a Hoover Wind Tunnel vacuum.

Why not go out and 'test drive' one of these great vacuum cleaners today. You simply cannot miss out on a vacuum cleaner that is so easy to use, lots of power, has an embedded dirt finder and a built in edge cleaner - everything you want in one powerful machine.
