

A Look At Inexpensive Diamond Watches For Men

A man would gift a diamond engagement ring to the woman he proposes to marry when she accepts the proposal and this is done not just in Spain, but in many other countries of the world. One of the most sensible gift ideas is diamond watches for men and women though the ring is extremely attractive too. These highly wanted pieces are created by some of the top line names of the industry and different jewelers concentrate on the different types of this jewelry.

Tacori the designer that has earned accolades for making diamond wedding jewelry which takes the best of both worlds - conventional patterns along with modern elegance. Hildago on the other hand is famous for creating pieces with a riot of colors and perhaps slightly outlandish looking and the engagement rings of 130-year old company Christian Bauer is available only through some select outlets and they make diamond jewelry only on special orders. As you might imagine, not all diamonds for sale wind up being mounted in these exquisite pieces but only the best certified examples, carefully graded for clarity and color, are selected.

Diamond watches are one type of jewelry that is appreciated and worn by men and women. In fact, the first wristwatches were actually diamond bracelets that had a small timepiece mounted. The first of its type was seen nearly 430 years ago, as a gift from Earl of Leicester to Queen Elizabeth I which was a tiny clock round in shape and studded with diamonds which was suspended from a wristband. Perhaps this was the first authentic diamond timepiece meant for use by the ladies.

On the other hand, till WWI, men liked to sport pocket watches considering wrist watches to be too feminine. The construction of the airplane paved the way for the creation of the first wrist watch for men. The reason for this is since there was no fuel gauge in the early aircrafts both hands had to be kept on the controls always. Hence there was a necessity for a timepiece which would help the pilot to track his range and simultaneously gauge how much fuel was left at the same time would not have to leave the controls simply to grab at his pocket watch.

Strangely diamond engagement rings and wrist watches for men both became famous nearly simultaneously. Today the three topmost makers of diamond watches are Cartier of France, Citizen from Japan and Movado from Switzerland. The last name is synonymous to the saying 'runs like a Swiss watch'. Engaged in making watches for the past century, you can get a variety of 200 distinctively characteristic diamond watches from Movado.
